HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 28TH. 1890.

THE Customs returns from Mengtzu and Lungchow are three months behind those as he cut short his former leave to come out here o'clock. I then went back to the Supreme Court, are beginning to denounce the gentry into issue of the Customs Gazette containing the of Police and the Police Magistrates are also, it I saw Mr. Appear as I was going into the Supreme returns from these ports for the April June is reported, anxious to turn their backs on the Court. I followed him to Atack's store and the official readings held in the onfocian temple quarter. At Lungchow there appears to be no trade worth speaking of the total duty collected during the quarter amounting only to Tls. 165. Instead of drawing its foreign introduce a Companies Act in order to give effect. A boat of over 200 picule carrying capacity, Mr. Carl goes on to say, can be engaged to go from Canton to Lungchow for $100. a picul. The only reason native merchants do not use this route now is on account of the heavy lekin charges on the way. Between Canton and Wuchow there are no less than ten lekin stations where boats have to stop, and between Wuchow and Nanning there are six. Not content with this, the Viceroy is now imposing further taxation, so that the French, when they have established railway communication beyond Langeon, have a good chance of securing the whole of the trade. Meanwhile the province draws its supplies through Pakhoi. Mengizu makes a very different showing in the returns. The Red River is the natural' trade route for South-Eastern Yunnan, and now that the navigability of that stream has been proved trade may be expected to rapidly increase. The returns for the April-June quarter are, it is true, smaller than those for the January-March the removal would be attended with some serious quarter, which may possibly be accounted We invite attention to the following old landed for by the strong freshets on the river dur- sacred tree, a Sinmese coolie was employed to Crus, was charged with assaulting Chas. In the April-June quarter the figures were:—Im-0.60 port duty, Tls. 3,376; export, Tls. 4,614: opium, Tls. 297; tonnage, Tls. 14; transit, Tls. 1,867; total, Tls. 10,169. If the trade has continued on the same scale during the second half of the year, the Customs revenue of the station for the year will amount to over Tis. 45,000, representing a value for the whole trade of probably not far short of Tls. 1,000,000. This appears small when compared with the trade of most of the open ports, but the prospects are at least as promising as they were at Pakhoi on the opening of that port, and it will be surprising if the next few vears do not see a large development. At present, although the practicability of the Red River for steam navigation has been proved by the ascent of two steamers to Lackay, no regular steamer has been placed on the line, so that the trade is still exclusively carried on by junks, and under conditions of more or less insecurity, owing into Court. We are indebted to "A Constant Reader" for the following story :- It was proposed to the Duke of Wellington to purchase a farm in the neighbourhood of Strathfieldsay, which lay contiguous to his estate, and was, therefore,a valuable sequisition. When the purchase was completed, his steward congratulated him upon having made such a bargain, as the seller was in difficulties and obliged to part with it: "What do you mean by a bargain ?" said the Duke. The other replied. "It was valued at £1100, and we have got it for £800." "In that case." said the Duke, "you will please to carry the extra £300 to the late owner, and never talk to me about cheap land again."
